

IMPETUS GIVEN DEVELOPMENT PROJECT

PLAN TO UTILIZE TIDE LANDS BETWEEN SAN FRANCISCO AND REDWOOD CITY GROWS WITH DEVELOPMENT ORGANIZATION.

The huge development scheme by which all the tide land between Hunter's Point and Redwood City is to be reclaimed and made home sites for hosts of new residents on the peninsula and form part of the great "City of Three Million" which optimists see here in the future, received new impetus at San Francisco Saturday. Representatives of San Mateo county met the members of the board of supervisors of San Francisco at the city hall in that city and went over the matter thoroughly. The upshot of the meeting was the organization of the Peninsula Development Association.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Redwood City, where the supervisors of San Francisco and the San Mateo county committee will be the guests of the Redwood Chamber of Commerce. The invitation was extended on behalf of the Redwood Chamber by Frank Towne, president, and was accepted.

The different committeemen reported that there was great interest being manifested in the development plan in San Francisco and in San Mateo county. On account of the untimely death of Supervisor Wolfe, the Downtown Association was unable to pass a resolution endorsing the development plan, but it was reported to the committee that such a resolution would be passed and that the Downtown Association was heartily in favor of the reclamation of lands and construction of prts on the San Francisco peninsula.

Those who are supporting the project see tremendous harbor development along the bay shore in San Mateo county in the future, with continuous docking facilities from San Francisco to Redwood City. At the same time San Francisco interests declare the project has no connection with annexation of this county to San Francisco.

At Saturday's meeting Supervisor Rossi declared the project one of the most stupendous development schemes ever broached in California, but one which is perfectly practical.

NATALE CHIMENTI GIVEN FIFTY-YEAR SENTENCE

Natale Chimenti of Daly City, who was sentenced to San Quentin on January 10, 1921, on a charge of rape, will probably spend the balance of his life behind prison walls, as his indeterminate sentence was fixed at fifty years by the prison board at its last meeting, according to a notice received at the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Nash.

Chimenti, who is an Italian and does not understand English, claimed following his sentence by Superior Judge Buck that he pleaded guilty to the charge on the understanding that he would not be sent to prison, but would be deported to Italy.

BERNARD McCAFFERY POST TO GIVE DANCE FEB. 25

Bernard McCaffery Post of the American Legion will give one of its always-popular dances at Fraternal Hall the evening of February 25th. Announcements of the dance have been posted around town and it is reported that tickets for the affair are finding a ready sale.

POOLROOM IMPROVING FRONT

The improvements that have been going on at the South City poolroom for some time are nearing completion. A new glass front with marble slabs below has been installed, and an entire new sidewalk laid in front of the place.

Mrs. E. M. Hicks and children are spending the week with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hicks. Mrs. E. M. Hicks is from Fresno.

PICTURESQUE GREEK WEDDING HERE SUNDAY

Proprietor of Local Store Takes Bride
at Ceremony Marked by Old World Rites.

One of the most picturesque weddings that ever took place in South San Francisco occurred last Sunday when James Xeroyanes took Miss Stefanopoulos as his bride. The wedding and the feast and celebration that followed, were carried out according to old-world Grecian customs, and those who were witnesses to the affair declare it was picturesque to a degree. The Golden Eagle Hotel was the scene of the festivity.

The marriage rite was performed by two priests of the Greek Church in San Francisco. Following the ceremony, which took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, came a great feast, at which the wedding party and 200 guests sat down. For this feast twelve lambs and 100 chickens had been slaughtered, and the long table was piled high with a bountiful spread of things to bring joy to the inner man. Many Greek friends of bride and groom were present from San Francisco and other bay points.

After the feast the evening was given up to dancing, which was led by the bride and groom. The dance lasted till midnight, after which Mr. and Mrs. Xeroyanes left for the southern part of the state to be gone on a honeymoon for several weeks.

The bridegroom is one of the proprietors of the Juniper avenue grocery. The bride is the sister of his partner. She is a handsome brunette, and has been in this country only about six months, coming here from Greece. On their return they will make their home in South San Francisco.

PENINSULA UNIT IN OPPOSING DRAWBRIDGE

When the hearing before the Railroad Commission in San Francisco to force the Southern Pacific Company to establish a drawbridge at Seventh and Channe streets in that city was opened Monday, a large delegation of citizens of the peninsula appeared before the commission to protest against the installation of the bridge. Redwood was represented by City Attorney Albert Mansfield, who strongly objected to the drawbridge. City Attorney Charles N. Kirkbride of San Mateo appeared for that city and entered violent protest against the bridge, and City Attorney John F. Davis of Burlingame spoke before the commission against the aim to "cut the throat of the peninsula." A vigorous protest was also made by City Attorney Norman Malcolm of Palo Alto, who stated that the university town wanted no moat between itself and the Golden Gate City. The San Carlos Chamber of Commerce wrote a letter saying, "Please don't put a drawbridge in." Phil R. Thompson of the Peninsula Chambers of Commerce and Civic Associations entered a vigorous protest to the installation of a drawbridge. The San Mateo county board of supervisors sent a letter asking not to grant the petition.

Following argument, the Railroad Commission continued the hearing until next Monday.

INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX FORMS NOW IN MAILS

Collector of Internal Revenue John P. McLaughlin has announced that forms 1040, individual income tax forms required of every person having a net income of over $5000, are being placed in the mails.

Collector McLaughlin asks the taxpayers to please be patient and not apply at his office for a form. They are being mailed out as quickly as possible, and all those whose names are on the mailing list in his office will receive them in the next day or so.

"Failure to receive a form does not, however, relieve one of the obligation to file a return and pay his tax within the time prescribed." The collector said. If you do not receive a form call at the office of the collector in the custom house, or at any of the branch offices and the same will be furnished you. "File early and pay," is the slogan of the new collector, John P. McLaughlin.

S. P. SAFETY DEPT. TELLS OF RECKLESS DRIVERS

Grade Crossing Collisions Bring Death to 177, Injury to 828.

The Public Service Commission of Nevada has recently issued an order requiring the drivers of auto stages and trucks engaged in the transportation of passengers, explosives and inflammable liquids, to stop before crossing the tracks of any steam or electric interurban railroad and look in each direction for approaching trains.

The order, which does not apply to the crossing of tracks of electric and other street railroads within municipalities, is similar to the one recently issued by the California commission.

The degree of carelessness and recklessness on the part of automobile drivers is almost incomprehensible, according to R. J. Clancy, who is in charge of the safety department of the Southern Pacific Company. During the last three years and nine months ending September 30th, grade crossing accidents on the Southern Pacific involved the death of 177, injury to 828, and the damage or destruction of 249 automobiles. The number of instances is surprising in which automobiles ran on tracks in front of train, usually the result of racing with the train; ran into side of train instead of train into them, mainly the result of trying to beat train to the crossing; ran through and broke down crossing gates lowered to protect them from approaching train, and ran down and injured crossing flagmen warning them of an approaching train.

HENRY R. VIETTE TO START TAXI SERVICE IN THIS CITY

South San Francisco is to have a taxi service, starting about February 6th. The service is to be opened under the name of the Reliance Taxi Company by a man who has been in business here for many years, namely Henry R. Viette & Thatcher, owners of the Smoke House.

Mr. Viette states that he believes this city has felt the need of a taxi service for a long time and that he expects to give the residents of the town such a good and satisfactory service they will be glad to patronize his cars. All machines are to be operated by licensed chauffeurs, and Frederick Sinfield, formerly of the James Vocational school, San Francisco, will be in charge. Mr. Sinfield at one time owned and operated a taxi service in British Columbia.

The first car to be put in service, a Studebaker sedan, will make its stand at the corner of Linden and Grand avenues.

NEW TRACTOR TO BE MANUFACTURED HERE

"Handy Andy" Tractor to Be Made at Pacific Car and Equip. Plant.

A new industry has been added to the already long list of industries in this city, this being the manufacture of the Handy Andy traction engine. The tractor is the invention of F. E. Berry of San Jose, but is being manufactured and placed on the market by a company of which B. J. Peck, son of the Rev. C. L. Peck of this city, is half owner. Mr. Peck was formerly manager of the Oakland office of J. W. Leavitt & Co., Oldsmobile distributors, and has a wide experience in auto sales service. Mr. Peck and his colleagues have let a contract for the manufacture of the new tractor to the Pacific Car and Equipment Company of this city. E. H. Lewis of the Service Garage has been named distributing agent for San Mateo, Santa Clara, and Santa Cruz counties.

It is said that the new machine marks a departure in tractor making. It is a compact little machine, will handle two 8-inch or one 10-inch plow, and is designed for the small farmer or orchardist. It will turn about in a very small compass. It is equipped with a Fairbanks-Morse engine, and Fairbanks-Morse agencies are to be utilized in distributing the new tractor. It is reported that the tractor has taken so well with those who have seen it that the company already has 300 machines spoken for.

MINSTREL SHOW DRAWS BIG CROWD OF SPECTATORS

The minstrel show given at Fraternal Hall last Saturday evening for the benefit of the Industrial Club drew a capacity audience. Judged from every angle it was a most successful affair, and the members of the club who gave the show have expressed themselves as well pleased with the result. Every number on the program was well received and jokes on local characters and business men delighted the big audience. The work of Dr. F. S. Dolley as interlocutor, John Mager, L. G. Hardy, Scotty Butterworth and Elmer Gallagher, as endmen, was above criticism. The tenor solos of the local Caruso, Henry Minucciani, drew forth resounding applause, while the playing of the Giannichini brothers was a pleasing feature.

The orchestra played for the dance afterward, and most of the audience remained for this part of the entertainment.

PARTY GIVEN AT VALENCIA HOME SATURDAY EVENING

LEGION OFFICIAL GOES TO WASHINGTON

Will Boost for Veterans' Bond Issue
With Representatives at Capital.

Byron H. Fitts, past state commander of the American Legion, and one of the most widely known ex-service men in the state, has just left for Washington, where he will meet with every congressman and senator from California in the interests of the veterans' ten million dollar bond issue, which comes before the people for vote next November.

Fitts is largely given the credit for the work done by the state legislature in voting that this bond issue should be placed before the voters, and in the framing of the very constructive legislation under which the veterans' relief will be dispensed.

This is one bond issue in which every class of citizen is deeply interested. Not only will it benefit the ex-service men and women of this state, but it will mean the development of vast tracts of non-productive land and the building of thousands of homes, all attained without any increase in the taxes of the citizens of California.

This is accomplished by the state buying certain tracts of land or homes and selling them to ex-service men and women on long-time payments with an interest charge which will more than cover the expenses of administration, in the opinion of those who know. This means that every community in the state will be benefited.

Fitts in his conference with the California representatives in Washington will discuss ways and means of administering the proceeds of the bonds in such a manner as will bring the greatest development to each city and county in the entire state, it being the desire of those behind the movement to distribute its benefits as evenly as is possible.

CHO CHO TO BE HERE SATURDAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

"Cho Cho, the Health Clown," will be at the high school auditorium Saturday afternoon. All the children of the town are eagerly looking forward to the visit of the famous funny man, who teaches important lessons in health and right living. Cho Cho's methods are entirely "different" and are designed to bring lessons of health, care of the body and proper ways of living home to the children in a way that makes a lasting impression. He comes under the auspices of the Red Cross, and while all children are admitted free to his entertainment there is a small charge for adults.

MAYROSE BASKET-BALL TEAM PLAYS COGSWELL FAST GAME

The Mayrose Butters' basket-ball team met defeat at the hands of the Cogswell high school unlimited team in a very fast game. The score at the end of the first half was 15-15. The final score was 22-25 in favor of the visitors.

The Mayrose Butters would like games with any 145-pound or unlimited teams around San Francisco and bay regions. J. Bonalanza of the Western Meat Company is the manager.

The Japanese tea held Saturday at the home of Mrs. E. C. Peck was well attended. Decorations and refreshments were Japanese in effect and and those serving were dressed in Japanese costume. About thirty dollars were cleared, which will be added to the club house fund of the South San Francisco Woman's Club.

Mrs. W. H. Dinning and children, Elva and Billy, left Tuesday evening for Ontario, Canada, to visit the parents and many relatives of Mrs. Dinning. Mrs. Dinning and children will be gone about six months. During Mrs. Dinning's absence Mr. Dinning will live at the Industrial Club.

Mrs. J. W. Bates gave a luncheon on Thursday at her home. The guests were Mrs. J. O. Snyder, Mrs. Welch, Mrs. E. P. Kauffmann, Mrs. F. S. Dolley, Mrs. Fred Cunningham, Mrs. J. Elkerenkotter and Mrs. J. P. Burgess.

SNOW FALLS ON PENINSULA TOWNS

NOVEL EXPERIENCE OF BEING IN SNOWSTORM FELT HERE FOR FIRST TIME IN MANY YEARS;
HILLS SHROUDED IN WHITE.

Lost in the snow and in danger of freezing to death, and this in California! This was the experience of three San Bruno persons Tuesday night. Their names are Gus Reyan, aged 71 years, and his two grandchildren, Victoria Reyan, aged 11, and Jimmie Baker, aged 8. The three started into the hills west of San Bruno Tuesday afternoon to go up to the snow that whitened the hill tops, and became lost in the canyons when they started home in the evening.

When midnight came and they had not returned, relatives became worried, and a search party headed by City Marshal Arthur Meehan started out to hunt for them. They were found at an early hour Wednesday morning in a wooded gully, huddled together to keep warm, having become exhausted in their search in the darkness for a way out of the hills.

This is probably the first case on record of a like happening in this vicinity. In fact, this is the first time in many years it could have happened, as not since 1904, old-timers say, have the hills along the peninsula been covered with a blanket of white like that which fell upon them Sunday and Monday.

And not only were the hilltops visited by the snowstorm. For half an hour Sunday noon light flurries of snow fell on the lowland all along the peninsula. Many of the younger generation had never seen snow so near home before. The scurrying flakes did not remain on the ground on the lower levels, but melted as fast as they fell. The tops of the higher hills on the Crocker estate and those west of San Bruno were shrouded in a white that remained from Sunday morning till Thursday noon and even longer in spots. It was a novel spectacle, and many persons from the different towns went into the hills and enjoyed the real winter sport of snow-balling.

PENINSULA DRUG COMPANY ENLARGING ITS STORE

Carpenters have been at work for some days enlarging the store room of the Peninsula Drug company. By removing a partition a considerable amount of space has been added to the store room with a consequent improvement in the appearance of the establishment.

The removal of the partition has added to what was formerly the staircase leading to Metropolitan Hall to the store room.

SOUTH CITY PLUMBING SHOP TO TAKE NEW ROOM

The South City plumbing shop, owned by Messrs. Minucciani & Minetti, is about to expand and take in the room next door. The proprietors feel that they need more room to care for their rapidly growing business, hence the move which will give them about double their present floor space.

John F. Mager left early this week for Arizona, where he expects to spend several weeks on a business trip for the Cattle Loan Company. During Mr. Mager's absence Mrs. Mager will visit at the home of her father, Dr. Mulcahy, at San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Terrace and daughter, Janet, spent the week-end visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Peck and attended the minstrel show given last Saturday evening by members of the Industrial Club.

Mrs. T. A. Sallihoe, sister of Mrs. H. Lintott, left Monday after several months spent with Mrs. Lintott. Mrs. Sallihoe will visit for a week in Seattle and then go to her home in Montana.

Mrs. R. C. Stickle underwent an operation at the South San Francisco Hospital Tuesday morning.

S. F. TO BE ADVERTISED OVER WORLD IN PICTURES

To give the world literally a better view of San Francisco, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has incorporated in its largely expanded program of publicity for 1922, provision for the use of photography on a scale never before attempted in the bay region. The camera will be called upon to reveal San Francisco in moving pictures, in panoramas from the hills, in birdseye views from the air, and in still life scenes characteristic of its historical, cosmopolitan and picturesque charm.

As the first step toward carrying out this enlarged publicity program the services of three expert photographers, working under the direction of W. H. Levings, head of the Chamber's publicity department, have just been engaged.

Eugene W. Castle is making a moving picture of San Francisco, which with those of the principal cities of the world will have international distribution through theatrical channels. This picture will have many fine and characteristic features never before seen in a film of San Francisco.

Mr. Castle has just returned from a tour of fifteen countries in Europe in which he took moving pictures for a well-known corporation that manufactures automobiles. During the war Mr. Castle was in charge of publicity for the United States Marine Corps in the Middle West. He also organized the Fox news service in San Francisco.

B. W. Hellings, who has attained high success both in still photography and in making aerial views of the city, has become a member of the Chamber's publicity staff. He will be engaged largely in rephotographing San Francisco for Eastern publicity purposes and in supplying the needs of San Francisco Business, the illustrated weekly published by the Chamber of Commerce.

STAGE LINE IN THIS COUNTY WANTS TO CARRY FREIGHT

R. E. Woodhams, operating an automobile transportation service between Redwood City and San Gregorio, San Mateo county, has made application to the Railroad Commission to carry freight and express matter. Woodhams recites that he holds an operative right by reason of continuous service preceding the passage of the transportation act, and that in filing his tariff he had inadvertently omitted freight and express schedules.

Frank Sneath, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sneath, graduated last Friday evening from the San Mateo high school. Mr. Sneath expects to spend about two months on an engineering trip to Modesto and will later enter college.

Any one entering the sophomore room on Monday morning might have thought they had come to a store instead of a school room. Piles of boxes and bags greeted every one as they came in the door.

What was taking place? Well, it was the sophomores' candy sale. However, the boxes and bags of candy were soon disposed of and still there was a clamoring for more.

The sale proved to be a decided success, and the sophomores wish to thank all those who helped to make it so.

JOHNSON WINS DECISION IN SEATTLE TUESDAY EVE

Floyd Johnson, well-known local pugilist and in the opinion of many, one of the most promising prospects for the heavyweight championship, won a decision in Seattle Tuesday evening over Willie Meehan. The scrap lasted six rounds, and the fans agreed that it was Johnson's fight by a wide margin.

Johnson is reported to be in great demand in Seattle. Promoters are now dickering with him and his manager for a ten-round go in Portland next week.

After the decision the press reports stated that Meehan attacked Referee Schacht, and a lively fistie set-to between them resulted. Meehan was arrested, but later released on condition he leave the city at once.

INCOME TAX FACTS.

In making out his income tax return for 1921, the average taxpayer will find a considerable saving in comparison with the amount of tax paid on the same income for 1920.

The exemptions provided by the revenue act of 1921 are $1000 for single persons (the term including widows, widowers, divorcees, and persons separated from husband and wife by mutual agreement), $2500 for married persons whose net income was $5000 or less, and $2000 for married persons whose net income was $5000 or more. Under the revenue act of 1913 the personal exemption allowed a married person was $2000, regardless of the amount of net income. The personal exemption allowed a married person applies also to the head of a family, man or woman, who supports in one household one or more relatives by blood, marriage or adoption.

The exemptions for dependents—a person who receives his chief support from the taxpayer and who is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective—is increased from $200 to $400.

The act requires that a return be filed by every single person whose net income for 1921 was $1000 or more, every married person whose net income was $2000 or more, and by every person—single or married—whose gross income was $5000 or more.

The requirement to file a return of gross income of $500 or more regardless of net income is a new provision. Net income is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, etc., which are fully explained on the forms.

Returns must be filed by married couples whose combined net income for 1921, including that of dependent minor children, equaled or exceeded $2000, or if the combined gross income equaled or exceeded $5000.

The period for filing returns is from January 1st to March 15th, 1922. Heavy penalties are provided for failure or "willful refusal" to file a return on time.

Forms 1040A for incomes of $5000 and less and 1040 for incomes in excess of $5000 may be obtained from the offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or in four equal instalments, due on or before March 15th, June 15th, September 15th, and December 15th.

AN EVENIN' HYMN.

If you eat a hearty supper, you will have the night to dread, for you'll dream of havin' half a dozen fights, and you'll crawl out in the mornin' with a feelin' in yer head, that will take a quart of dope to set to rights. . . . You won't need any breakfast on that gastronomic jag, that you took aboard with shameful lack of sense,—and you'll feel about as frisky as a seven-bushel bag, while the soul is allers sorry that repents. . . . If you want to fill yer system up with somethin' better'n wealth, don't germandize of evenin's when you're tired. . . . Its safer not to tinker with the laws of perfect health, when a little bit of judgment is required.

The evenin' is intended for its hours of peaceful rest, to ponder o'er the blessin's of the day—and a double-jointed rasher underneath a feller's vest, gets busy when a feller hits the hay. . . . I like to front the table, with a bowl of mush an' milk, with a pewter spoon of regulation size,—an' I'll wake up in the mornin' a-feelin' finer'n silk,—it's healthy, mebbe wealthy—allers wise. . . . Then paste this little jingle in the linin' of yer hat, an' take the time to read it, once a day,—if you ever feel rebellion in the place yer stomach's at, take my advice, an' watch it fade away!

PLENTY OF MONEY NOT ENOUGH

There is no lack of money in this country. We have an abundance—all we need—more than any other country on earth.

But plenty of money is not enough. We need to have that money in circulation, building up crippled industries, creating new ones, and providing employment for the surplus brain and hand power of the country.

That would create renewed prosperity.

When Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania died a tidy sum in cash was found in his safety deposit vault—a little matter of only $226,000. It was not in circulation, was not even earning interest for the senator, was simply buried out of sight and doing nobody any good.

If we could open up the safe deposit vaults of the United States, and the old stockings, and the tin cans, and delve into the other secret hiding places, we would probably find billions of dollars hoarded up and kept out of circulation in just that way.

A billion dollars hidden away is of no earthly use to any one as long as it remains hidden. But bring that money out and put it into circulation, and prosperity immediately takes on a new lease of life.

We have too much money in dark places, and not enough in the light.

AUTOS AND RAILROADS BOTH NEEDED

On all sides you see the extension of the automobile truck and the automobile passenger car. Men with small capital are everywhere buying trucks to carry light freight and packages between city and town and between towns.

All over the United States, comfortable automobile passenger cars are conveying people between towns cheaper than the railroad does it and pretty nearly as fast as the local accommodation trains.

Here and there railroads are abandoning locomotive-hauled passenger trains on branch lines and carrying the people on large truck cars.

All this is an indication of the way things are going in transportation. It is the way the railroads themselves began spreading over the land seventy-five to eighty-five years ago.

How seriously is the expansion of the automobile in transportation going to injure the railroads? It isn't long since railroad men were most alarmed, but they are getting over it. People and heavy freight are constantly increasing in America. With good management passenger and heavy freight traffic can be made very profitable to the railroads no matter how much light freight and packages are carried by autos. The competition of the automobile is going to wake the railroads into a state of new efficiency, and it will be only those which do not bestir themselves that will go to the dogs because of the expanding auto truck.

According to a contemporary, costly weddings are going out of style. With no other kind left, what are we going to do?

Whatever we may think, Postmaster-General Hays at least knows when the quitting is good.

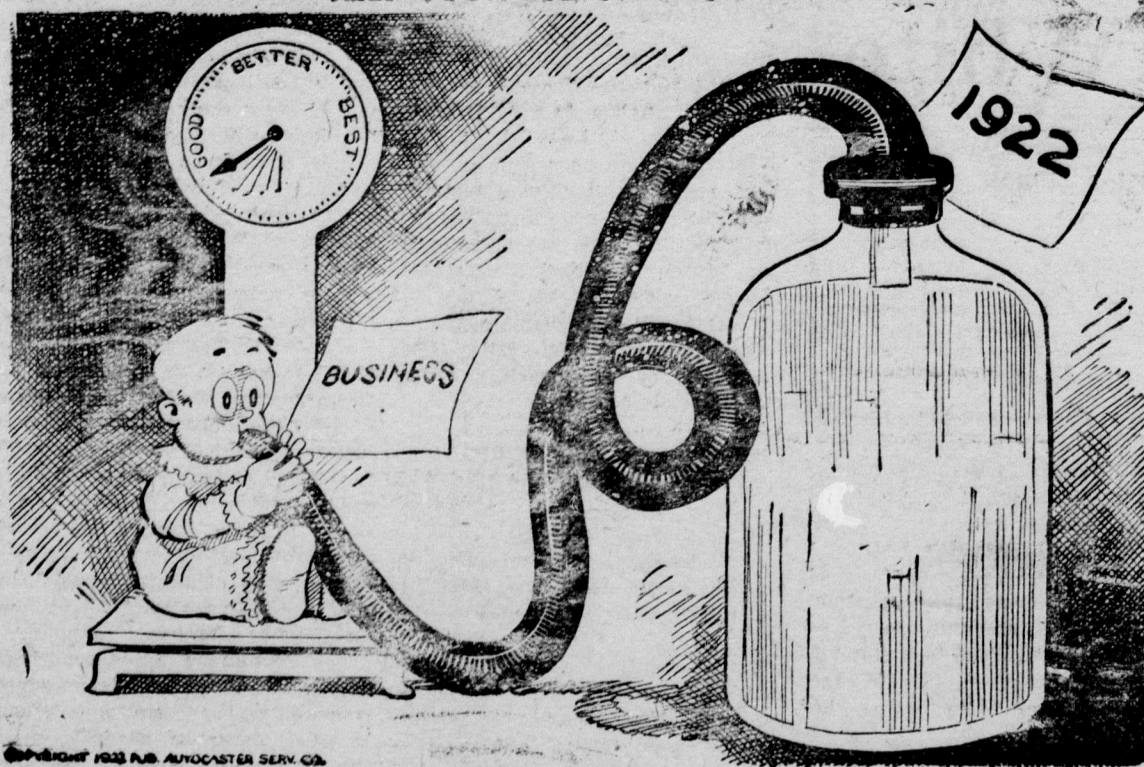

Many a soft berth proves in the end to be the hard side of a board.

Kindness doesn't always begot kindness. Sometimes it just makes 'em think you're easy.

Because a man in an argument lays his cards all out on the table, it doesn't necessarily mean that the cards are worth laying on the table.

ICE BY ELECTRIC PROCESS

Method, Long Tried Out in Hotels, Restaurants, and Ships, Soon to Be Universal.

Now that iceless refrigeration has been simplified to the point where it is suitable for the home, it is safe to predict that it will not be long before it will be within the reach of even those of very modest pocket books, and all need of bothering with the ice-man, with his pick and tongs, will be gone.

The ice used on our tables has long been the product of electric refrigeration, although the mechanism was not located in our own homes, says the Philadelphia North American. Hotels, restaurants and passenger boats have used the electric process because it is efficient, sanitary and convenient.

Electricity does not immediately and directly produce the freezing temperature, but merely provides the motive power to condense certain chemicals which are the actual refrigerants. In the process of condensation these chemicals vaporize or "boil" and absorb the heat from the surrounding air. The machinery by which condensation and vaporization is produced was formerly large and expensive, and it has taken continuous experimentation to reduce it to a point where it is practical for household use.

The process has been similar to the transition of locomotive power from the large and clumsy railroad steam engine to the smaller automobiles, with their comparatively simple mechanism. The complex machinery had to be refined to a point where it could be produced cheaply and operate on a small scale. Electric refrigeration has now almost reached the jiffy class. It will soon be considered essential in all our kitchens.

PLANT INDOOR WINDOW BOX

Small Expense and Little Effort Required to Have Ornamentation Always Pleasing.

To the real garden lover the charm of the garden can be extended all through the winter months, for a window garden gives cheer to a room and is always a source of interest and delight.

Window boxes can be kept charming for the entire year by filling them with hardy begonias and ferns, suggests the Christian Science Monitor. Another interesting arrangement, all in green, is of small palms and ferns of the long-leaved Boston type, and asparagus sprengeri to trail over the edge. Primrose, the Chinese or common variety, and Irish ivies make a window box with a delightful color note. For late autumn, if the room is kept cool, some of the darling little chrysanthemums in brown and yellow are effective and they will last several weeks. For the late winter or early spring flowering bulbs may be used among ferns.

In planting a winter garden one must always remember that plants do not thrive near steam heat, and if the radiator is under the window a broad shelf should be placed six inches or more above it and the box set back on the shelf, so that the force of hot air does not come too near the foliage.

The small expense and the little effort required for a beautiful indoor window box makes it possible for every home-loving woman to have one.

Restoration Worth While.

Why build new cottages? Why not repair old ones? These were the questions asked by the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, in England, and answered successfully. The society took a veritable relic of old England, five centuries old if a single day, in the shape of two dwellings under one roof at Drinkstone, in Suffolk. The thick timbers, seasoned to the quality of iron, were good, but the roof, the floor and the windows were defective. In fact the building was habitable only on a portion of the ground floor. Nothing daunted, the society set to work and, by judicious restoration, made the old dwellings as sound as a bell. The total cost of the work, including the freehold site, was $3,612. A new cottage would have cost at least $4,750, not including the site. Is it any wonder that the society is casting round for other old haunts to conquer?—Christian Science Monitor.

New "Landed Gentry" in England.

The advent of a new "landed gentry" in England since the war is made plain by "Burke's," an annual work of reference on that subject which has reappeared after a break of seven years. Over 100 names of old landowners have disappeared since the last edition, and their places have been taken by double that number of newcomers. In the preface, the editor remarks: "Much as the passing of old families from the land, or the diminution of their holdings, is to be regretted, the rise of a new class of landed gentry, possessed of means enabling them to develop estates which had become impoverished through the misfortunes of their previous owners, cannot be without benefit to the country."

Alarm for Banks.

An electric siren alarm has been tried in the Bank of Hamilton. The interior of the bank using this alarm is wired and a number of electric buttons placed in secret places. On the wall outside a siren alarm is attached. If a robbery is attempted the staff push their buttons and the alarm automatically shrieks a warning on the street. A test was made in one of the branches in Toronto and when the siren called four policemen rushed into the bank prepared to fight bandits.

PHONE DUE TO DEAF MUTES

While Teaching "Visible Speech" It Is Said Alexander Graham Bell Made Great Discovery.

That the telephone was born in America, and that Alexander Graham Bell made his discovery in Boston of the only way in which speech could be transmitted, was due to circumstances full of the deepest human interest, says the Telephone Press Service. That Bell came to Boston to teach his father's method of visible speech, was due to the insistence of a New England woman, Miss Sarah Fuller, principal of the Horace Mann School for Deaf Mutes.

Miss Fuller so impressed the Boston school board with the importance of this method of instruction for the unfortunate children under her care, that, after vainly trying to secure of Bell's father, who had invented the system, the board, upon his recommendation, offered the son, Alexander Graham Bell, $500 to come to Boston and give a course of instruction at the school.

He went there April 1, 1871, and thereafter divided his time between teaching the theory of visible speech to the teachers, and in practical instructions to the pupils. In 1872 he opened a normal school for teachers. In 1873 he accepted an appointment as professor of vocal physiology in the school of oratory of Boston university. In 1875, Professor Bell made the happy discovery that led to the invention of the telephone. He was then twenty-eight years old.

"RABBIT" IS PROPER NAME

Combination of Toasted Cheese and Brown Ale Has Been Incorrectly Called "Rarebit."

The original name of the combination of toasted cheese and good brown ale was, it is an historical fact, "Welsh Rabbit." It was a slang term, at that. It was one of a large class of similar terms describing in a humorous manner the special dish, product or peculiarity of a particular district. Thus, in England, a "German Duck" was the slang name for a sheep's head stewed in onions. "Leishershire Plover" was the name given to a bag pudding, and "Digby Chicken" was the slang term for herring.

Similar examples of metaphorical names for favorite dishes are found in every country. And long before the word "rarebit" was ever heard of, the familiar dish of "cheese and ale" was known as a "Welsh Rabbit." It was only when some solemn etymologist came along, and gravely noted the fact that there was nothing in the dish to even remotely suggest a connection with a rabbit, suggested that the word was undoubtedly a corruption of "rarebit," which would make some sense at least. So "rarebit" it became among the purists. And the early dictionaries adopted it, though the modern ones acknowledge that "rabbit" has the right of way.

Black Walnut Valuable.

"Of all the forest trees found in the original forests of America," says American Forestry, "the black walnut probably suffered most at the hands of the early settlers. This is due to the well-known fact that it stood upon the best land in the fertile valleys and bordering foothills. These areas were selected by the pioneer farmers for their clearings and farms. A large number of the choicest black walnut trees were felled and burned simply to get rid of them. Many more were split into fence rails or put to other similar ordinary uses before the real merits of the wood became known."

"Now the wood of black walnut brings a high price. It is no longer destroyed and wasted, but every available piece is collected and manufactured into some useful article. It is not used any more for rough lumber, as it was in the early days, but all of it goes to factories, where it is converted into finished articles."

Young Sparrow's First Flight.

I was walking around my stables and stopped to watch a pair of sparrows enticing their offspring from a nest in a hole in the wall. One of the young ones, more venturesome than the others, fluttered off toward a cock feeding in the yard with some hens. The cock at once ran up and seized it in his beak; the hens, thinking this was something good to eat, ran after him. The hunt, however, was of short duration, for as soon as they got out into the open ground, a scavenger kite came with a rush, snatched the victim from the astonished cock and made off. The cock and hens then fled squawking for shelter. —The Field.

Sporting Instinct.

You wouldn't back a lady candidate?" "Certainly not," said the gallant major, "but I like a bit of fun as well as anybody. If a lady candidate were making a speech and I saw a woman voter in the audience about to bolt over, I'd probably be the last man there to call a policeman."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Enforced Cheer.

"Fine acting those merry villagers are doing." "It doesn't require much art to play the role of a merry villager." "They haven't had a cent of salary in three weeks."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

NO LIVING THING ON ISLAND

Condition of Affairs Would Seem to Prove That Mother Nature Can Make Errors.

A freak of nature, proving of more than ordinary interest, is a good-sized island in Puget sound, which is apparently dying from old age. It was observed last summer that every fir and cedar tree on the island was dead. About the water's edge vegetation appeared withered and a thin vapor hung over the island during the day. Never inhabited, and about 100 acres in extent, the island has for years been noted for its growth of wonderful trees.

Firs three feet in diameter grew so thickly as to make travel through them almost impossible. Both cedar and alder flourished. The ownership of the tract has been in litigation for years and the timber could not be logged.

Now there is not a living thing on the island. Not a crow rests on the dead tops, and as boats pass, an occasional crash tells of the falling of a great tree.

Scientists who have visited the island in the last few months believe the land has soured. The growth of trees and vegetation has been so rapid and dense as to exhaust the humus in the soil. Another theory is that the soil rests on a rock base and the rootlets of the plants have come into contact with the brine of Puget sound to such an extent that the salt has burned out the plant life.

FRENCH FARMERS MADE GAINS

Assertion That They Realized Large Financial Benefits From the War Seems Reasonable.

A class of French society that gained large financial benefits from the war is the farmers. They have become of late a great force in French politics, thus far only defensively, in avoiding taxation, but later they will surely grow more aggressive.

In the old days many, if not most, of them used to rent the land they tilled, but now the tenant farmer has ceased to exist—they have all recently bought their farms. There were 2,000,000 American soldiers in France, and it is estimated that, on an average, they spent a dollar a day apiece out of their own pockets; this makes $2,000,000 a day, and most of it went to the French farmers, to say nothing of the millions spent by our government to supply rations to these very soldiers. The difference between the city profiteers and the farmers is that the former are few, while the latter represent a very large vote, which has the same results that it would have in any other republic, viz., those representing the large vote are not taxed!

The needs of the French budget will doubtless bring about a correction of this state of affairs, when the farmer vote will have to pass from the defensive to the aggressive.—C. H. Sherrill in the Outlook.

Japanese Glycerin Production.

Until the outbreak of the war all the glycerin used in Japan was imported from the United States and European countries, notes Finance and Commerce (Shanghai), but the enormous demand resulting from the war led to the establishment of a factory under the protection of the Japanese government, which has reduced somewhat the volume of imports of glycerin. Originally the manufacturers of glycerin in Japan used only fish oil, but are now adding to the supply by using tallow, vegetable wax and coconut and bean oils. China's imports of glycerin during 1920 showed a fair increase. Out of a total valued at about 107,000 haikwan taels, the United Kingdom supplied over 60,000 taels' worth; Japan, 25,000 taels; the United States, 11,000 taels; the Netherlands, 3,000 taels, and Switzerland, 2,500 taels, while Germany also sent some small supplies. Shanghai is the largest absorbing center, taking about 63 per cent of the total imports of glycerin into China. (The average value of the haikwan tael for 1920 was $1.24 gold.)

Just Supposing.

The most embarrassing moment of my life was in school. I am a senior in high school, and naturally take great pride in it, and like to lord it over the freshmen. I am in the freshman French class and at every opportunity I get I make fun at their mistakes.

Well, we were just starting on French and my French teacher was trying to help me out on something I did not understand.

She said to me: "Norman, supposing that I said to you, 'You love the girl.'"

Not keeping the question in mind I sheepishly said, "What girl?" It truly was an embarrassing moment for me to have all these freshmen giggle at me and taunt me, thus giving me a dose of my own medicine. —Exchange.

San Bruno

LOCALS

Mrs. Ochs is now well again, and Tuesday was able to once more attend local social affairs.

There is talk of a new motion picture house being built, more in keeping with San Bruno's present and prospective growth.

Mr. Rogers' house in Third Addition was robbed a few nights ago and property of considerable value taken. Chief of Police Meehan has the matter in hand.

There is considerable building activity going on around town at present, and more is to be expected as soon as weather conditions will permit.

Winners at the Yeomen's whist party Tuesday were: Ladies—Mrs. M. McSweeney, Mrs. Elma Beckner, and Mrs. Bildhauer; gentlemen—D. J. Reisman, Dean Beckner and T. Fischer.

Tax Collector McSweeney was a visitor to San Bruno Tuesday from Redwood City, and was present at the Yeomen's whist party given in Carpenter's Hall that night.

Next Sunday afternoon the corner stone of the new St. John's Evangelical Church, now in course of building in Third Addition, will be laid, at which time a special service will be held, which will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Sanger and others from San Francisco.

COMMITTEE TO REPORT ON CITY HALL SITE SOON

The special committee nominated by Mayor Grundy to go thoroughly into Mr. Jenevein's proposition of purchasing his property for a city hall site is expected to have its report ready for the city trustees at an early date. The consensus of opinion among all classes of our citizens appears to be entirely favorable to the purchase, provided same can be accomplished without resorting to a bond issue. Many consider the site the finest of its kind on the peninsula. San Bruno will within the next few years be called upon to build a city hall commensurate with her needs and growth, and local residents realize it is the part of wisdom to purchase a suitable site while one can be had at not too great a cost. The Jenevein property appears to fill all needful conditions, as it is large enough to accommodate a city hall, a community center club house, which is badly needed, and also a park and playground for the children.

CIVIC LEAGUE TO HOLD MEETING IN CALIF. HALL

A meeting of the San Bruno Civic League will be held at the lower California Hall Monday evening, at which time matters of importance relative to the spring elections for city trustees will be given attention. All members should be sure and attend.

School Trustee Gallagher's name is being mentioned in connection with the coming trustee election, as also are those of Mr. Bergman of Third Addition and Mr. Schuster of San Bruno Park.

BUSY BEE CLUB HOLDS PLEASANT SURPRISE PARTY

The Busy Bee Club, composed of a number of our industrious young citizens, had a pleasant meeting the early part of this week, which took the form on this occasion of a surprise party to one of their club members. A most enjoyable time was had, and those present included the Misses Irene Grisez, Norma Knight, Agnes Mattson, Naomi Mueller, Lillian Dickson, Doris Irger, Martha Bergman, Anita Mathiesen, and Helene Filben.

HOW CODY GOT NICKNAME OF "BUFFALO BILL"

When the Kansas Pacific railroad was being built through Kansas in 1867-68 it was necessary to provide food for an army of more than 1,500 track-layers. A source of supply was near at hand—vast herds of buffalo—and men were hired to do nothing else but kill these animals for food. One of the best-known of the hunters was William Frederick Cody, a young frontiersman who had been a pony express rider and guide for General Custer.

The work was dangerous, for the Indians did all they could to stop progress on the railroad. They especially hated these hunters who killed more buffalo in one day than they destroyed in a week, and Cody took his life in his hands every time he went out. He soon became such an expert hunter that the railroad men gave him the nickname of "Buffalo Bill."

During Cody's career as a buffalo hunter, a period of 18 months, he killed a total of 4,280 bison. His greatest exploit was his victory over Billy Comstock, a scout and rival hunter. The match was arranged by officers of Fort Wallace to decide which of the two men was the greatest slayer of bison. They were to hunt one day of eight hours, and the man who killed the greatest number of the animals was to be declared the champion buffalo hunter.

A herd was found and separated into two bunches. Cody immediately began riding at the head of his bunch, shooting the leaders and crowding the followers toward the center of an ever-narrowing circle. In a short time he had killed 38, all of whom lay dead over a small area. Comstock had begun shooting at the rear of his herd and, although he killed 23, they were scattered over a distance of three miles. Two more herds were found, and when the final count was made, Cody had 69 and Comstock 46.

Later Cody became a famous scout and guide. He served with General Custer in Kansas and General Carr in Colorado. Cody was known as "Pahaska—Long Hair" by the Sioux, who

Pretty Things That are made at Home

THE pretty vogue for artificial flowers, as decorations for the home, seems to have come to stay. The shops are showing them in many varieties and often remarkably true to life, made by those who have become expert in manufacturing millinery flowers. These same blossoms, varnished and stiffened with clear shellac, have the appearance of conventional "china" flowers, and they are immensely admired. But neither of these varieties exceeds in beauty those made at home of crepe paper—especially the well-loved garden flowers—as roses, poppies, hollyhocks, cosmos, chrysanthemums, that turn out most successfully in crepe paper. They are used just as natural flowers are, in vases or baskets. Sometimes these receptacles are made at home also, of paper rope. Two sprays of hollyhocks and a cluster of cosmos blossoms have been selected for illustration because they are startlingly lifelike.

It is an old established custom to use baskets of plates of artificial fruits as a finishing touch to the furnishings of the dining or living room, and marvelous reproductions of them are offered in the stores. They are usually somewhat expensive imports. A few of these fruits can be made at home also, of such everyday, commonplace materials as cotton and sealing wax.

These fruits have cotton balls as foundation attached to short pieces of wire for stems. The cotton is covered with wax, heated to the point where it will run, and shaped by turning and modeling with the fingers while it cools. Several colors may be blended together in this way. After the fruit is shaped and cooled, it is heated again—not to the melting point, but enough to give it a glossy finish, and cooled by dipping it in cold water. Either paper or millinery foliage is used with both fruit and flowers and wire is wound with green paper for the stems.

Roses, carnations, cosmos and chrysanthemums are made of crepe paper with such fidelity to the natural flowers that it is hard to distinguish between them at a little distance. The paper roses and carnations are sometimes scented with the perfume of these blossoms, adding something to the pleasure they give. Making them is fascinating work and they are so inexpensive that every house may be brightened by them. Fruits are a little more difficult for the amateurs, but they are lasting and will repay the experiment and the small investment in wire, paper, sealing wax and cotton. The baskets and vases of paper rope will require some instruction. It can be had where the materials are sold and without expense.

J. Carlton Saunders came to himself with a start, as Elizabeth spoke his name. He knew from the tone of his sister's voice that she had spoken before, and had been ignored.

"You asked, my dear—" he questioned.

"When you are going away," Elizabeth retorted, "isn't it about time for one of your trips?"

"Yes," Carlton answered, "I ought to be in New York this week."

He frowned; it was diplomacy to pretend these business trips a bore and a bother. Otherwise, the two elderly and dominating sisters who were his housekeepers and companions, would feel themselves cheated of the participation of a pleasure.

As a matter of fact, Carlton Saunders, in the prosy regime of his small town house, looked forward to these escapes into an outer world with secret anticipation and enjoyment. Elizabeth and Katherine were good sisters, annoyingly anxious concerning his welfare.

J. Carlton appreciated their solicitude, while he fretted under the constant surveillance. There were those who insisted that the kindly man might long ago have rejoiced in a home of his own with a wife to share it, had it not been for Elizabeth's and Katherine's rule. But the brother in his heart refuted this.

Were his sisters not bringing before him constantly possible applicants for matrimony?

"Yes," he answered Elizabeth again, "I must be in New York this week."

"We will pack your valise," Katherine said, "and don't forget to wear your rubbers."

But when he walked into the New

And there on the floor at his feet, lay a pair of small blue slippers, quilted satin slippers with ridiculous fluffy pompons upon either toe. So, she had forgotten these. They were the sort of slippers a Cinderella of past dreaming might have chosen—to slip on in the firelight. The following morning he sank into a chair in an adjoining "coffee house" and opened his paper. Springtime floated provocatively around him, lilac and lily-of-the-valley springtime. Two very blue eyes smiled over a coffee cup, opposite.

"Good morning," greeted the lady of the blue cloud, "thank you for returning my slippers."

"I travel," she told him upon their third chance breakfast together, "for a linen company. Imported linens. My knowledge in that line was my one chance for self-support after my father died. It's a good business, but it leaves me homeless. That's—the drawback."

"I have a home—" Carlton said musingly, "an old place, with bushes around it."

"Not," asked the woman eagerly, "not lilac bushes?"

Carlton nodded.

"How I would love it," she exclaimed.

"I am old," he answered her irrelevantly, "I was mourning over my bald head this morning."

"So much—" asked the lady opposite, "that you quite missed the clear youth of your eyes?"

When Elizabeth and Katherine received a telegram some days later, they stared at each other in speechless amazement.

"Married," read the brief message from their brother, "bringing my wife home with me."

PEARL FISHING IN SCOTLAND

Low Water During the Season Just Ended Brought About Many Successful "Catches."

The pearl-fishing season, which has now drawn to a close, has for many of the Scotch fishers been an extremely successful one, says Violet Raeburn in the Edinburgh Scotsman. Owing to the low volume of water in the rivers after the long drought, they have been enabled to see more easily the shells on the river bed, also to wade farther into the water. These fresh water pearls are contained, not in oyster, but in pearl-mussel shells, which are to be found in several of the Scotch rivers and streams.

The methods of fishing vary slightly. The fisher with whose method we are most familiar wears an angler's hip boots and wades far into the water. He carries in his hand a piece of corrugated iron, shaped much the same as a jug, the base of which is made of glass. This enables him to see the shells which lie at the bottom of the river. In his other hand he holds a "tongs" consisting of two pieces of wood with iron pincers.

On seeing a shell he lifts it with tongs and puts it into his pocket. Then when he has a good number of shells he opens them on the river bank to discover if he has had any luck. It may be that he will find a pearl in the first one he opens, or he may open many shells without any prize. The same shell may contain more than one pearl.

As there is a mass of water weed at the bottom of the river which prevents the shell being seen, the spring, before the weed is in full growth, and the autumn, when it is dying down, are the best times for the fishing.

RESERVOIR SITES ALONG OHIO

Government Geologic Survey Points Out Enormous Possibilities for Impounding Stores of Water.

A comparison of records of the flow of the Ohio river with those of the upper Mississippi and Missouri shows that although its drainage area is but one-third that of the combined Mississippi and Missouri its average and low-water flow is 1.3 times as great as their combined flow, and its maximum flow is 1.5 times as great. This fact is accounted for by the greater rainfall in the Ohio basin and by the general character of the region.

In the Ohio basin there are apparently many opportunities for storage, especially on the southern tributaries. On topographic maps of the geological survey that cover part of the drainage area of the Ohio a large number of reservoir sites have been located, some of them of enormous capacity, and it is believed that careful surveys would show many sites suitable for dams that would impound large quantities of water in reservoirs.

The volume of water flowing in the Ohio may perhaps be better appreciated by noting that a discharge of 300,000 cubic feet per second would in one day cover 595,000 acres to a depth of one foot.

Alsace to Have Big Show.

The city of Strasbourg, in Alsace-Lorraine, is already making preparations for a great interrelated health exposition to be held in commemoration of the centennial anniversary of the birth of Louis Pasteur, discoverer of the germ origin of diseases. Following the example of the Columbian World's Fair at Chicago, which celebrated in 1893 the four hundred and nineteenth anniversary of the discovery of America in 1492, the Strasbourg exposition will be held in 1923, from May to October, although Pasteur was born in 1822.

For the first time in history Strasbourg will see an exposition arranged by citizens of France. The participation of representatives from the nations that helped to bring Alsace-Lorraine back to France will make it memorable as something more than a collection of modern methods of fighting disease.

KITTIE WITCH STORIES.

(By Auntie Ruth.)

Chapter 2.

The First Mouse

It was not easy for the big dog to endure the mischievous kitten around him. He fairly ached to set his sharp teeth into the furry, little black neck and give one shake—just one, no more would be needed. Several times Jeanie thought he surely would do it, and her heart sank, but always he stopped just in time.

Kittie Witch seemed to think all this was a new and delightful game, and was so good-natured, so happy and altogether lovable that what do you think? Old Shep soon found himself becoming really fond of his little charge! Then never had kitten a happier home. Willingly the big fellow shared with the tiny kitten his bowl of milk and anything else she happened to want, even his juciest bones. Nothing had dared touch these, though old Speckle was always trying to sneak them.

How Jeanie loved to watch the play-fellows! Kittie Witch romped all over her big protector, taking saucy liberties with his twitching ears, his paddy paws and his bushy tail, but Shep only grinned. Yes, he did! He lifted his lips and showed his white teeth in a regular grin.

Sometimes the big dog would be sleeping and suddenly feel a soft, little thump on his nose. There would be Kittie Witch, posed like a prize fighter, and thump! thump! went one tiny paw after the other, right on the black, wriggling nose. And do you know, Shep would lie perfectly quiet, except for the end of his tail which would just wiggle to show how proud he was of the pertness and daring of his tiny friend. If the kitten got too saucy and let her sharp little claws get busy, the big dog merely lifted his head beyond her reach.

It wasn't long before Kittie Witch tried to follow Shep all over the place, though he told her she couldn't do it with those short legs. The idea! He would stand just so much tagging around, then, when he wanted to take a big run, like chasing rabbits or going for the cows, he would turn quickly and saw "Woof!" like that—real stern, right in the kitten's face.

"Sptz!" and out would fly a tiny black paw. "Slap!" and there was a wee, red scratch on Shep's nose. Then how that kitten would run!

Into Shep's kennel she would dart, and all Jeanie could see were two big yellow eyes glaring their fright and anger, though the little girl knew Kittie was twice her size and lashing a big, bushy tail. Kittie Witch never followed Shep after he had scolded her like that—only once.

That evening old Speckle dashed up to the kennel the minute Shep was out of sight, looking for bones. Kittie Witch was frightened and called to her protector, but he didn't hear, so she started out after him. She scurried along under the weeds trying to find him when, all at once, she saw something which made her forget everything else—a little mouse, hiding under some boards which almost covered an old, nearly empty well. Kittie Witch jumped. So did the mouse, and down went both of them into the cold, wet well.

On his way back with the cows, Shep thought he heard his little chum crying. Could it be possible she had tried to follow? Listening, he hunted all around. Finally he saw her, perched on a slippery stone in the bottom of the well, wet and shivering, but with the mouse still in her teeth. And oh, how she was crying!

"Woof! woof!" called Shep, which meant, "There! There! Be brave, little pal. We'll soon have you out!"

Shep fairly flew to the house, grabbed his master by the trouser leg and nearly dragged him to the well. Down went the man's cap, tied to a long string. Promptly Kittie Witch climbed into it and was soon safe in the kennel, where the first thing she did was to sit down and devour that mouse. Shep was the gladdest dog you ever saw and Kittie Witch—well, she'd had the worst fright of her life, so far, and what a time it took, to say nothing of hard work, to get herself neat and tidy again! She had learned her lesson and minded Shep beautifully about tagging after that.

Indeed, she was so grateful to Shep for saving her life that she longed to do something splendid for him, and very soon she had her chance.

War Mascot Dead.

The French press pays tribute to a hero of the war, whose death has just been announced. The hero in question was named Diamond, and was a cat that attached himself to the French in the lines before Amiens. Every day Diamond might be seen threading its way through the entanglements to the German front trench. The poilus were afraid that some harm might come to their mascot, and in order to protect it they tied a packet of cigarettes around its neck before it started out on its daily ramble, bearing the words: "I bring you cigarettes; do not kill me." Diamond, being a war veteran, had a right to a comfortable home when the armistice was signed, and was sent to an animals' home superintended by the Countess Yurkevich at Neuilly, where it died.

They say red tape in Washington is disappearing. Using another color, perhaps.

Even a referee has his friends. The winners enthusiastically approve of him.

Hope, they say, never dies. It just peters out.
